The Fulbright Foreign Student Program enables graduate students, young professionals, and artists from BiH to study, research or teach in the United States for approximately one year. Students establish professional contacts, enhance their scholarly work, and gain international experience and personal enrichment.

The Fulbright Visiting Scholar Program provides grants to BiH scholars to lecture and/or conduct postdoctoral research at U.S. institutions for an academic semester up to a full academic year. Candidates must possess a doctoral degree or terminal degree in proposed field of study.

The Hubert H. Humphrey Fellowship is a non-degree research program that brings mid-career professionals to the United States for a year of academic and professional enrichment activities. The program offers combinations of coursework, independent projects, internships, seminars, field trips, and consultations with U.S. faculty and experts.

The Global Undergraduate Exchange Program (Global UGRAD)

provides one-semester scholarships to undergraduate students for non-degree, full-time study at accredited four-year institutions of higher education in the United States, combined with community service, professional development workshops, and cultural enrichment activities.

The Study of the U.S Institutes (SUSIs) for Scholars and Secondary Educators are post-graduate level academic programs with integrated study tours providing mid-career foreign scholars, faculty, practitioners, and secondary educators the opportunity to deepen their understanding of American society, culture, and institutions. SUSIs for Scholars are six-week long; SUSIs for Secondary Educators are five-weeks.

The Fulbright Specialist Program (FSP) provides non-U.S. BiH institutions the opportunity to draw on the expertise of U.S. scholars and professionals and develop linkages with American institutions. The two to six-week program cultivates higher education excellence and innovation by supporting projects at BiH host institutions—including, but not limited to: educational, governmental, cultural, medical, and research/think tanks ones—which are institution-focused, capacity-building, flexible, and collaborative.

The English Teacher Professional Development Distance Learning

Program (E-Teacher) offers English teachers across BiH the opportunity to take innovative, online, graduate level classes. The courses are offered throughout the year and explore major areas of the academic specialty of Teaching English as a Foreign Language.

The Youth Leadership Program is a six-month program for high school students, featuring: a pre-departure orientation in Sarajevo; a four-week program in the United States offering 18 students and three teachers the opportunity to explore the principles of leadership and community activism; and a four-month period during which participants conduct a project in their hometowns.

The Kennedy-Lugar Youth Exchange and Study (YES) Program is a high school exchange that sends ten high school students from throughout BiH to the United States for up to one academic year. Students attend an American high school and live with an American family. YES is a unique way for young people to learn about American society and values and to teach Americans about their countries and cultures.
